

She's Got Game

Tia Mowry plays like a pro in simple California chic

Like many twins, The Game's Tia Mowry and her sister (and sometimes costar), Tamera, spent much of their youth dressed alike. By the time the pair got to high school, however, they went their separate ways, stylewise, and Tia, now 29, began developing her own brand of "casual chic." The actress takes a pass on too-tight gear in favor of the ultrafemme silhouette of "cute, empire-waist dresses." She also fesses up to the occasional splurge on a signature purse. "A great bag is such a good investment because you can have it for years," says the German-born army brat. Her real weakness, though, is a comfy pair of versatile jeans: "You can dress them up with a nice top and some heels, or dress them down with a pair of flats or UGGs. I just love my jeans." —REGINA R. ROBERTSON

Tia wears a Catherine Malandrino blouse, Paige Premium Denim jeans and Ewa Solarska jewelry. For details, see Where to Buy.
